About the Conference

HPAIR Model United Nations is a premier international relations simulation designed to inspire and empower university students to become global leaders. Organized annually by Harvard University students in partnership with a local host team, the conference gathers over 2,000 delegates from more than 110 countries to simulate the United Nations and other multilateral bodies.

This program offers a unique blend of high-level debate, cultural immersion, and social engagement, creating an environment where diverse perspectives are not only heard - but celebrated. Through thought-provoking discussions, diplomatic collaboration, and hands-on experiences, participants explore real-world global issues and sharpen their skills in negotiation, public speaking, and leadership.

Recognized for its academic rigor and vibrant international community, HPAIR Model United Nations is more than just a Model UN - it's a life-changing experience that fosters empathy, understanding, and a commitment to global cooperation.

It's more than a
Conference.

It's a Global Movement.

Through lively and informed debate, exciting social events, and a unique conference spirit, the HPAIR Model United Nations experience reaches across cultures and borders to inspire both cooperation and friendship.

SUBSTANTIVE EXCELLENCE

HPAIR Model United Nations features twenty simulated UN committees representing member states, international organizations, and NGOs. Led by an engaged dais, these sessions offer a dynamic platform to debate the world's most pressing challenges.

DELEGATE EXPERIENCE

The heart of HPAIR Model United Nations lies in the delegate experience. From dynamic debates and diplomacy in committee to meaningful connections with peers worldwide, the conference offers an unforgettable and enriching journey.

CULTURAL CONNECTION

At HPAIR Model United Nations, our goal is always to foster authentic cross-cultural connections. This is embodied by the 'MUN Spirit' - a guiding principle that encourages friendship and cooperation across borders, along with a deeper understanding of cultures and perspectives beyond one's own.

Committees

GA: Disarmament and International Security Committee (DISEC)

TOPIC: Cobalt Mining in the Congo

DISEC will address the human cost of cobalt mining in the Democratic Republic of the Congo, where children and civilians are exploited under inhumane conditions. While cobalt is essential to the global tech economy, its extraction raises serious ethical and security concerns. Delegates will examine the international community's role in enabling these practices and propose multilateral solutions to regulate supply chains, protect vulnerable communities, and ensure ethical resource governance.

GA: Economic and Financial Committee (ECOFIN)

TOPIC: International Monetary Fund Bailouts and their Consequences

ECOFIN will explore the effectiveness of IMF interventions in countries facing repeated financial crises. Through case studies of Pakistan, Egypt, and Côte d'Ivoire, delegates will assess whether IMF policies have fostered sustainable development or entrenched debt cycles. Using diverse economic metrics and methodologies, the committee will evaluate the long-term implications of IMF involvement and propose reforms to promote financial stability, equity, & accountability.

GA: Social, Humanitarian, and Cultural Committee (SOCHUM)

TOPIC: Healthcare Treatment and Stigmas Surrounding its Provision

SOCHUM will examine how cultural norms, legal restrictions, and economic barriers limit access to sexual and reproductive health and rights (SRHR) worldwide. With particular focus on marginalized populations, the committee will evaluate structural inequalities and propose inclusive policies that expand access to comprehensive SRHR education, services, and protections—especially in low-resource and conservative settings.

Committees

GA: Special Political and Decolonization Committee (SPECPOL)

TOPIC: Protecting and Preserving Biodiversity

SPECPOL will address the global biodiversity crisis, with wildlife populations declining by nearly 70% since 1970. Delegates will assess the root causes of ecosystem collapse—such as habitat destruction, climate change, and overexploitation—and debate solutions that reflect their nations' ecological and geopolitical interests. The committee will work to develop cooperative strategies for preserving global biodiversity and securing a sustainable future.

ECOSOC/RB: Commission for Social Development (CSocD)

TOPIC: Collectivized and Collaborative Action of Populations for the Sake of National Development

CSocD will explore how local, community-led approaches can drive effective poverty reduction. Drawing on models like the Harlem Children's Zone, delegates will consider how systems-level interventions—coordinated across education, health, and economic support—can be adapted globally. The committee will assess the cultural, financial, and political challenges of implementing place-based strategies in diverse international contexts.

GA: Legal Committee

TOPIC: Digital Learning and Educational Inequities

The Legal Committee will investigate how disparities in digital access and literacy widen global educational inequalities. Delegates will examine the legal responsibilities of governments and institutions in ensuring digital inclusion, especially for underserved communities. Topics include teacher training, student access, funding, and data privacy. The committee will develop rights-based frameworks to support equitable digital learning worldwide.

About Harvard College Project for Asian and International Relations

Harvard College Project for Asian and International Relations (HPAIR) was founded in 1991 to create a forum of exchange for students and young professionals to discuss and learn about the most important economic, political, and social issues facing the Asia-Pacific region. Since 1991, HPAIR has organized 49 conferences in 34 different host countries, touching the lives of more than 40,000 students and young professionals. HPAIR hosts two student-led conferences a year – one on Harvard's campus and one in the Asia-Pacific. Prospective host cities in Asia must undergo an intensive, six month bidding process; this year's Asia Conference will be held in Hong Kong.

HPAIR conferences feature world-class speakers and guests to foster mentorship, networking, and guidance opportunities for delegates. Previous speakers include Kevin Rudd, the former Prime Minister of Australia; Ban Ki-moon, the former Secretary General of the United Nations; Robin Chase, co-founder and former CEO of Zipcar; and Frank Friedman, current COO of Deloitte Global.
